Well public transport accessible towns around Tübingen

Dear student,

The housing market in Tübingen is very difficult, especially for the many students who have not been able to get a place in a hall of residence.

It is an acceptable option not to live in Tübingen itself, but in a district outside the city or a village/town in the surrounding area.

Advantages are lower rent and less competition when looking for a room or small flat.

Disadvantages are the time it takes to commute to Tübingen.

When checking public transportation for a location, please do not use Google Maps. Some connections are not included there, so you will be shown a connection that is much too long or no connection at all.

You can only get reliable information on public transport connections in the region around Tübingen from Naldo - the local transport association. We recommend using the app, but there is also an option via the web browser.

We have written a small guide, as the operation of the app/website is sometimes a little awkward. You can find it here on our website:

To make your search outside of Tübingen easier, we have compiled a list of towns that are no more than 30 minutes away from Tübingen's main train station by public transport.

The times for the last connection all refer to weekday connections. Most of them have additional nighttime connections on the nights of Fri/Sat and Sat/Sun up or even on weekdays until 2 or 3 am. The timetables usually are updated once or twice a year and there might be some short-term changes due to construction sites and similar issues, so these times might not be exact. But despite these changes, the last connection will most likely still be between 11 pm and midnight.

Travel time in each case from the station in the town to the main station in Tübingen.
