The LEAD Graduate School & Research Network and the Hector Research Institute of Education Sciences and Psychology present the 6th annual Tübingen Summer Series on Personality Psychology

July 09 to July 13, 2018

Monday, July 09, 2018, 16:15
Brent Roberts (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign)
“Thinking About Interventions in Education Using the Sociogenomic Trait Intervention Model”
(Room 204, Europastr. 6)

Tuesday, July 10, 2018, 10:15
Bart Wille (University of Antwerp)
“The Changing Nature of Vocational Interests”
(Room 204, Europastr. 6)

Tuesday, July 10, 2018, 16:15
Arthur Poropat (Griffith University)
“Taking the Lexical Hypothesis Seriously”
(Festsaal (Ebene 3), Klinik für Psychiatrie und Psychotherapie, Calwerstr. 14)

Wednesday, July 11, 2018, 10:15
Jordan P. Davis (University of Southern California)
“Just Count to Ten: The Role of Self-Regulation and Exposure to Violence on Substance Use Outcomes Among At-Risk Youth”
(Room 204, Europastr. 6)

Wednesday, July 11, 2018, 16:15
Richard Göllner, Gundula Stoll, and Marion Spengler (University of Tübingen)
“Personality Research in Tübingen“
(Room 204, Europastr. 6)

Thursday, July 12, 2018, 10:15
Lex Borghans and Trudie Schils (Maastricht University)
(Room 204, Europastr. 6)

Thursday, July 12, 2018, 14:15
Patrick Hill (Washington University in St. Louis)
“Understanding the Benefits of Leading a Purposeful Life”
(Room 204, Europastr. 6)

Friday, July 13, 2018, 10:15
Mathias Allemand (University of Zurich)
“Personality Change Matters: Long-Term Effects from Adolescence to Adulthood”
(Room 204, Europastr. 6)

For more information visit www.lead.uni-tuebingen.de/news-events