

Children's Sports Week at the University of Tübingen

After last year's great success, we are once again offering a children's sports week for primary school children of students and employees of the university during the summer holidays. This cooperative event between the Institute of Sports Science and the University's Family Office will take place from 5 - 9 August 2024, from 9:00 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The aim of the Children's Sports Week at the University of Tübingen is to get children of students and employees excited about sports through a polysportive program, to teach them to enjoy exercise and sports, and to show them the diversity of sports. In addition, social integration will be promoted and parents also have reliable childcare during this time.

This project was implemented at the Institute of Sport and Science as part of the seminar "Designing, Organizing and Evaluating Sport" by 17 students under the seminar leadership of Andreas Dietrich. The University of Tübingen will contribute to the costs in order to keep the participation fee low.
